“School referrals for mental health treatment rise by over a third”

NSPCC, MAY 2018

A recent article from the NSPCC highlighted the increasing challenges schools are facing around mental health, with an average of 183 referrals made per school in 2017/18.

With the number of pupils with mental health difficulties continuing to rise and access to specialist support increasingly challenging, it's vital you and your colleagues can provide meaningful support to students across your school.

This year's Mental Health & Wellbeing in Schools conference is your opportunity to gain the latest strategies, practical skills and resources to ensure your whole school can support these vulnerable students.

Key focuses on the day include:

- Designated mental health lead: Clarify the latest recommendations from the green paper and the new role of the designated mental health lead in schools.
- Person-centred approach: Ensure all staff are proactive and create a person-centred approach to supporting mental health needs.
- Anxiety: Know the root causes of anxiety and how to offer meaningful support to students suffering high levels of anxiety.
- Staff Training: Gain new engaging methods to lead mental health training for all staff.
- Workload: Know how to manage the increasing workload of supporting mental health needs in school.

Plus, targeted workshops covering stress, resilience, staff wellbeing, suicidal thoughts, peer support and much more.

Last year we welcomed over 500 delegates across both events. Here's what they had to say:

“Absolutely fantastic, a thoroughly enjoyable experience to network, listen and take practical ideas back to school. Thank you!”

TEACHER OF MATHEMATICS & MINDFULNESS, LINCROFT SCHOOL

“A very well organised day with a great range of topics covered by some very knowledgeable and engaging speakers”

DEPUTY HEADTEACHER, MERSEY PARK

“Very motivating and inspiring. Made me determined to do more mental health work at work and to really forge ahead with this work”

INCLUSIONS OFFICER, THE HEATH SCHOOL

“An excellent day that was very inspiring and informative. Thank you!”

ASSISTANT HEADTEACHER/SENCO, HIGHFIELDS PRIMARY SCHOOL

This year's speakers include:

Caroline Hounsell

Director of Partnerships, Product Development and Training, MHFA England

Caroline was one of the first MHFA England instructors to be trained and joined the national MHFA England training team in 2007. In 2015, she was appointed into a new role as MHFA England's director of partnerships and business. Caroline runs MHFA instructor refresher workshops, is a regular speaker at conferences and is an all-round advocate of MHFA.

Claire Eastham

Author and award-winning mental health blogger

Claire Eastham is a mental health blogger and bestselling author of the book 'We're All Mad Here.' Drawing on her own experiences to talk about social anxiety and panic attacks, Claire is known for her relatable and honest approach, bridging the gap between health professionals, doctors and those who live with mental illness.

Sharon Goldstone B.Ed.,

Deputy Safeguarding Lead, Early Help Officer, Mental Health & Wellbeing, Chingford Foundation School

Last year Sharon shared her plans with us to counteract Mental Health Services being scaled back by up-skilling students and support staff. This year, she shares how this became a reality through setting up 'The Listening Club' at school, with hints and tips for others to do the same.

Julia Watson

Clinical Hypnotherapist and Psychotherapist, Oxford Family Hypnotherapy

Julia Watson is a solution-focused hypnotherapist, wellbeing consultant and Optimus Education Wellbeing Award for Schools advisor. Her work is based in modern neuroscience, bringing a brain-based, solution-focused approach to staff wellbeing. Julia also runs her own retreat company, bringing stress-busting retreats to organisations and businesses.

Naomi Russell

Manager, Children and Young People, Time to Change

Naomi has worked for the Time to Change Children and Young People's team since 2013, aiming to improve the knowledge, attitudes and behaviour of young people and families around mental health. Naomi convenes a mental health network of senior leaders from 15 Bristol secondary schools and is also a trained person-centred psychotherapist working with women affected by domestic violence.

Martin Staniforth

Dove Self-Esteem Project Catalyst

Martin is the co-founder of Laughing Phoenix, a consultancy that helps organisations with their 'purposeful positioning'. As such, he has facilitated the global Dove Self-Esteem Project since 2003, creating a range of body image resources for teachers, youth leaders, parents and young people. He also co-leads Creative Beings CIC, a social enterprise using artistic processes for wellbeing.

Anna Bateman

Education Consultant and Trainer

Anna has over 24 years' experience in education as a teacher, national and international trainer, consultant and head of service for a transformative emotional literacy curriculum. Most of her working week is spent actively working in primary and secondary schools. Anna has been on two interim executive boards, is an associate lecturer, an Optimus Education Wellbeing Award for Schools advisor and an academic resilience facilitator for Young Minds.

Rebecca Baxter

Head of Middle School, St Albans School

Having joined the teaching profession in 2008 after a brief spell working in the film industry, Rebecca has a firm belief in the need for a holistic approach to pastoral care and the importance of supporting wellbeing in order to enable young people to achieve in all aspects of their lives. Rebecca has recently been working on campaigns related to screen time and mental health, as well as research into the benefits of yoga and mindfulness for pupils.

Wendy Gleave

Trainer, YoungMinds

Wendy Gleave is part of the training and consultancy team at YoungMinds and has experience in both the primary and secondary sector. Wendy has developed and delivered bespoke training on a range of issues concerning mental health including digital resilience and trauma and has undertaken the Facilitating Academic Resilience Approach course accredited by the University of Brighton.
